

NOTES ABOUT THE AUTHORS

GIOVANNI TAMBURELLI is a native Turinese. In 1949, he received the degree in electrical engineering from the Polytechnic of Turin. In that same year, he joined STIPEL (Operating Telephone Company), where he was Head of the Transmission Laboratory. In 1962, he was one of the founders of the Centro Studi e Laboratori Telecomunicazioni (CSELT), where he directed transmission research until 1970 and advanced research until 1981. Having served as Superior Chief Research Manager until 1982, he is now a consultant in CSELT. He taught electrical communications at the Polytechnic of Turin from 1962 to 1967, and since 1971 he has been teaching electrical communications at the University of Turin. He is a member of the Italian Electrotechnical and Electronic Association and of IEEE.

Dr. Tamburelli's first article in Spectrum appeared in the March 1982 issue (#2) and indeed Spectrum was inaugurated with his 3-D elaboration of the Shroud Face on the cover of the Pilot issue.

In 1979, he was named Turin's "Man of the Year 1978" for his contributions to the study of the Shroud image.

LUIGI FOSSATI, S.D.B., should need no introduction to readers of Spectrum, who will recall his articles in Numbers 3, 5, 6, 8, 12 and 13. A professor at the Salesian Institute near Turin, Don Fossati has been an indefatigable researcher in source material relevant to sindonology since his youth.

CHARLES FOLEY began his study of the Holy Shroud in 1932, five years before he was ordained a priest. For more than half-a-century, he has lectured in the South of England and published countless articles, contributing twice to Spectrum (#4, p. 33 and #5, p. 40). A summary of his forthcoming book was published in 1978 with the title: The Holy Shroud, Mirror of Christ. In 1973, he was present at the first television showing of the Shroud; in 1978 he attended the II International Congress (Turin) as consultant to the delegation from England, and in 1981 he addressed the II National Congress held in Bologna.

Father Foley served for four years as Senior Army Chaplain in the Western Desert and two years in Europe.