

A MYSTERY SOLVED?

A lively Italian counterpart to this Newsletter is the Collegamento Pro Sindone published from Rome. In the most recent issue, March/April 1989, Professor Emanuela Marinelli tells how she visited the remote "ghost town" of Ani in eastern Turkey, in order to find and study the possible Byzantine representation of the Shroud described and sketched by Dermot and Jacynth Hope Simpson. Readers may recall this was reported in our Newsletter no. 15. It now appears that what the Hope Simpsons saw was most likely a representation not of the Shroud, but of the Raising of Lazarus. Never mind... it could have been a key discovery!
